

MEDIA BACKGROUNDER: CONSUMER PROTECTION BC

---

OVERVIEW

Consumer Protection BC is a provincial regulator. While we have an administrative agreement with government to enforce BC's consumer protection laws, we operate at arm's length from government and on a cost-recovery business model. We license and inspect seven different sectors, regulate specific consumer transactions, respond to consumer inquiries, investigate alleged violations of BC's consumer protection laws and inform consumers and businesses about their rights and responsibilities under the law. While Consumer Protection BC is responsible for administering BC's consumer protection laws, all changes to the laws (as well as the creation of new law) lies with government.

BC'S CONSUMER PROTECTION LAWS

In BC, consumer rights are protected under a number of different laws – some are captured under the Acts and Regulations we administer, and some are overseen by other organizations. The laws we are responsible for enforcing include the Business Practices and Consumer Protection Act, the Cremation, Interment and Funeral Services Act, the Motion Picture Act and a number of related Regulations.

When we receive questions or complaints about topics that fall outside of the laws we administer, we do our best to provide referrals to organizations with jurisdiction over the specific issue. If no such governing body exists, we may provide information about other possible avenues for dispute resolution, such as filing a complaint with the Better Business Bureau, seeking legal advice or disputing the issue through Small Claims Court.
